Re: Review received December 20, 2018

Dear [REDACTED]

I received your letter of review on December 20, 2018 regarding the outcome of your Appeal Hearing on December 19, 2018.

In your letter to request a review, it was not clear to me what you were basing your request on:

- (a) The proceedings were not conducted in conformity with prescribed procedures and significantly impacted the outcome of the student conduct process;
- (b) The sanctions imposed are substantially disproportionate to the violation(s) committed;
- (c) The decision reached did not properly consider the information presented; and/or
- (d) New information becomes available that was unavailable at the time of the original meeting, and could substantially impact the original decision.

If any of the above information influenced your decision to request a review, you should have provided a summary of any new information and its potential impact on your outcome, in your request for a review.

After reviewing your case, and also recognizing that there has been no new or additional information added, nor a specific complaint about the conduct or appeals process, I am upholding the decision of the Appeals Board of Expulsion from the University (Western Washington University).

WAC 516-21-230 Sanctions:

(13) Expulsion from the university. A student may be permanently separated from the university. A student who has been expelled is not eligible for readmission.

This decision is final.

Truly,

Ted W. Pratt, Jr.
